SUN, SALT, & LEATHER: AUGUST CAR INTERIOR CARE TIPS

Between beach days and scenic drives, your car's interior takes a beating during the summer—especially here in San Rafael where sun and salt air are part of the daily forecast. Protecting your vehicle's interior doesn't just keep things looking sharp—it can also extend the life of key components.

Here are a few quick tips to help your interior survive the summer heat:

- Use a windshield sunshade anytime you park—this helps prevent dash fading and cracking
- Crack your windows slightly (if safe) to reduce cabin pressure and heat buildup
- Buckle your seatbelts when exiting to prevent metal clips from becoming dangerously hot
- Wipe down leather seats with conditioner to prevent drying and sun damage
- Vacuum sand and salt regularly—leftover debris can cause stains and corrosion over time
